DOG FIGHTERS TAKE TO THE HIGH HILLS

Bingham Sports Win All the Money, but Walk Home, Afraid to Ride.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 22.—The sports have gone and all that is left is the remembrance of the big dog fight held here Saturday night, which commenced at 8:30 o'clock. Sports from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Park City, Bingham and several of the smaller surrounding towns were present, and an hour before the appearance of some big convention in session.

There were two fights scheduled. Two dogs were reported to have come from Bingham and two from Salt Lake City. The first fight was for $150 a side, the winner to take the $300. After half an hour of nerve-racking and exciting action, the fight was put out of commission and the winners took down the money.

The second fight scheduled did not take place, the Salt Lake man who had posted $100 to fight his dog, forfeiting his money, and the match was called off.

After the fight had ended and the sports were talking of the second match, to be some one in the crowd passed the word that the Bingham dog was coming. There was a big gathering and it is said upon pretty good authority that half of the sports walked to Salt Lake City, arriving there in the morning.

The boys from Bingham took to the hills near Garfield on a bee-line for home, while several others got lost on the Tooele lake road and were about all night. Others got tangled up in the duck sloughs and nearly froze to death.

GOUCH IS FAVORITE OVER HACKENSCHMIDT

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The greatest interest in the world's championship wrestling match for the championship of the world between George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, and Frank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler, which takes place next March. The Americans are being looked upon with awe in sporting circles, and while Hackenschmidt is the favorite with the public, he is behind in the betting, and Gotch seems to hold the high hand.

It has been stated that Hackenschmidt has never trained conscientiously for any of his matches, always considering himself invincible, and has always had his own way until he met Gotch in Chicago, where he lost to the American. But the previous match was far from being satisfactory. It is said by knowing ones that Gotch went into the contest well greased and for two hours refused to mix with his man, standing up nearly the entire time. Hackenschmidt would lie down on the mat, but Gotch refused to go to him, and after two hours of trying to get him to mix, Gotch finally gave up and close for keeps, Hackenschmidt threw up his hands and said that it was useless to go any further, and the match resulted in a draw.

The present match will be conducted upon different lines. The referee will see to it that neither man is greased, finger nails well trimmed and in every way a fair fight will be given. The men must live up to the rules. Hackenschmidt is confident that he can throw his man, but he has less than an hour to go. He will go down on the mat with him. There will be large sums of money wagered on the result.
